

10-CENT INCREASE IN LEVY PROPOSED

Tax Rate of 80 Cents Will Be Required to Raise $63,214 To Meet
City Budget Expenses

PREPARED BY CITY COUNCIL

Budget Includes Proposed Appropriations For Various Departments of City Government

The city council, which met Tuesday night, fixed the tax budget of expenses for the year 1924, and it was estimated in the report approved and published, that it will be necessary to raise $63,214, for the operating expenses for the ensuing year, which figured on the net taxables of $7,798,380, will require a tax levy of 80 cents, or an increase of ten cents over this year.

According to law, the council must meet and prepare what they believe a conservative estimate on the expense of city government for the ensuing year, and itemize each division for the taxpayers to look over, and on the night that the appropriations are made and the levy is fixed, the taxpayers will be heard if they wish to remonstrate.

In figuring up the money that will be needed next year, the most important is salaries, which will total $15,255. This is divided into the following branches: Mayor $600; clerk $600; firemen $6,600; treasurer, $1,500; councilmen (5) $500; police, $4,000; city attorney, $200; health board, $175; street commissioner, $1,080.

Then comes the various divisions that will require money next year, and this includes the garbage collector, $699; printing $250; nurse $480; street and alley intersections, $2,500; bonded indebtedness, $7,100; fire engine note and interest $3,180; office supplies, $475; street oiling, $2,000; department of law, $100. Special judge, $50; park fund, $1,500; street department, $10,000; fire department, $3,400; sewer outlet contract $7,500; public utilities $12,000; health board, $625; library fund $1,500; city dump $50; engineering $500; dead animals $50; state board of accounts, $100; miscellaneous, $1,262.50.

Although the estimate for the city will cause a ten cent increase in the tax rate, yet when the council meets to determine the levy for the various divisions, it will probably be reduced.

In making the budget for expenses, it is usually made higher than needed, because after it has been established the treasurer cannot pay out more than advertised, but can

TWO ARE QUESTIONED IN MURDER INQUIRY

Members of Alleged Bootleggers
Gang Quizzed at Brookville in Running Down Clues to Slayers

MILITARY FUNERAL PLANNED

(By United Press)

Brookville, Ind., Aug. 22.—Two more members of an alleged bootleggers gang, operating in Franklin county, were taken into custody today and quizzed by county authorities, seeking to run down the two automobile bandits, who shot and killed William VanCamp Monday morning.

One of the two witnesses gave his name as Vincent Bolling of Dayton, Ohio. The name of the other, a woman, was not revealed by authorities.

Both were held on charges of illicit transportation of liquor. It was reported that the authorities had picked up a new clue to the identity of the slayer as the result of the questioning.

Citizens of Brookville today arranged a military funeral for William VanCamp, sheriff of Franklin county who was shot by two auto bandits near here Monday.

The Brookville American Legion post, of which Sheriff VanCamp was a member, will be in charge of the military services at the grave tomorrow afternoon.

Searching parties have scoured the country since the morning of the murder, but no trace of the suspects has been found.

Postponed Until Alleged Nude Mo-
torist Can Be Arraigned In Court

The case of the state against Harold Case, 333 West Tenth street, the alleged nude driver, who is charged with public indecency was continued today in Justice Stech's court until September 7. Many witnesses were summoned for the case, but the state decided to wait until after the opening of the circuit court, as the defendant will be given a hearing before Judge Sparks on the matter.

He is under a suspended sentence and if the court has reason to believe that the defendant has not conducted himself as he should, the suspension will be recalled, and the imprisonment ordered.

RAIN LIKE A CLOUDBURST

Water Stands In Several Streets In Rushville And Limbs Are Blown
From Many Trees

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 22.—An August cold wave swept over the northern middle-west today bringing chilly north winds, rains and sharp temperature drops.

Top coats were comfortable in Chicago, where the mercury dropped 54 degrees. In Milwaukee the temperature went down 21 degrees and a low of 45 degrees was reached in Detroit.

The wind, rain and electrical storm that passed over Rush county about four o'clock Tuesday afternoon caused considerable minor damages, but no heavy loss was entailed by any individual, so far as information was available today.

The greatest damage was probably done to the corn, it was indicated, the gale laying most of it low. Some corn had already been blown down in a wind storm one week ago last Sunday.

The rain, which resembled a cloudburst throughout the country, was of great benefit to the corn crop, according to farmers, who had complained that the dry weather of the last few weeks had stunted the development of the ears.

The rainfall amounted to 2.56 in. according to Elwood Kirkwood, the county weather observer. He said there was 2.41 inches of rain in one hour and forty minutes.

The rain was said to be of immense benefit to pasture lands, which were "burning up" on account of the dry weather.

Rushville streets were flooded, because the rain fell in such torrents that the storm sewers could not carry the water away. Water stood down several streets and in some places was two or three feet deep. Many automobiles were stalled as the result of the drenching.

Limbs were blown from trees and the streets were strewn with debris this morning, resembling the morning after a cyclone. It was thought that something in the vicinity of

BOULDER IS PUT IN PLACE

Further Work Is Done On The William R. Laughlin Memorial

The immense boulder upon which will be placed a bronze memorial tablet for William R. Laughlin, first citizen of Rush county, was put in place on a foundation just east of the north entrance to the court house today. The tablet will be unveiled with appropriate ceremony when it is completed.

The movement to honor the memory of Dr. Laughlin was started during the Rush county centennial in June, 1922, and public subscriptions have been obtained by a committee headed by Mrs. Margaret English.

The boulder was obtained from the farm of Bert Norris in Noble township and the work is being done by the Schriebe Monumental Works.

GETTING THE RANGE AT LAST

OLD ORDINANCE TO BE INVOKED

Safety Engineer For Pennsylvania
Railroad Notifies Council Signal
Lights Will Be Installed

TO DO AWAY WITH WATCHMEN

Fight to Retain Them in 1919 When Ordinance Was Passed Is Recalled
—Objection to Lights

An ordinance passed during a former city administration, and forgotten about years ago, was brought to the attention of the city council Tuesday night, when they met in regular session, and the Pennsylvania railroad announced that they are now ready to do away with the crossing watchmen in the city, and install signals at the street crossings.

In 1919, the ordinance was passed, when the council was induced to assist the railroad on account of financial troubles, and it was decreed that the crossings in the city could be satisfactorily guarded with signal bells, in place of the four watchmen now on duty.

The ordinance was passed primarily for the purpose of reducing the expense of keeping the watchmen. The railroad at that time consented to install bells at eight streets, namely, Third, Jackson, Fifth, Harrison, Morgan, Seventh, Main and Perkins. The streets now guarded by crossing watchmen are Third, Harrison, Seventh and Main.

When the council in 1919 was drafting the ordinance, people of Rushville were opposed to the plan, and a remonstrance of nearly 1,000 names was presented, voicing their disapproval to the idea of doing away with the flagmen. The councilmen, however, passed the ordinance regardless.

No action was ever taken by the railroad to fulfill their contract on the ordinance, and it was completely forgotten until last night, when Mr. Miller, a safety engineer for the railroad, appeared before the council, and announced that they were ready to proceed at once with the signal system.

He said that the railroad had decided to install a red light system, instead of bells. The red light will be placed about five or six feet high on each side of the street, with the light facing the driver of a machine on the right side. When the train approaches, the red light will flash on and off, and he said it could be

PEOPLE PROTEST REPLACING OF WATCHMEN WITH SIGNAL LIGHTS

Scores of protests were made today by the people of Rushville when asked the question, "What kind of protection would you rather have at the street crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad—bells, lights, watchmen or gates?" Each person to whom the question was put was given an explanation that the railroad company was preparing to install signal lights, to replace the flagmen, and every person interviewed at random today, voiced disapproval to the plan.

"Keep the watchmen," seemed to be the prevailing note with each person. One person stated that if the council permitted the ordinance to stand, that they should be held liable for any accident that might happen. It has been pointed out that the signal lights are excellent protection at night, but the railroad operates only two or three trains during darkness.

The crossing watchmen were ordered at the streets years ago—in fact long before the automobiles came into general use. The watchmen were placed there to safeguard the pedestrians, and particularly the school children. A light cannot shout a word of warning to a little tot that might step in front of a train, but a flagman standing in the center of a street has saved many a small child from stepping too close to or in front of a train, it is pointed out.

One person interviewed stated that the railroad in question did not hesitate to demand higher rates, and always had selfish motives apparently, and on account of high rates, the people of Rushville should be given protection in return.

Here is what a few persons said today:

I don't believe it would be very satisfactory; that is my honest opinion, although I have not had any experience about it.

BERT ORME, Taxi owner.

I am absolutely against taking away flagmen. There is only one substitute thing and that is gates.

CLARENCE CROSS, Postal clerk.

Of the two, I would rather have the lights than the bells, but neither is as good as a watchman, if he attends to his business.

GEORGE C. WYATT, Furniture dealer.

I don't think the lights will beat a man. In the first place lights are not to be depended upon. They are out half the time. A man in the street is the only thing.

JOE WILLIAMSON, Fire chief

There is nothing to take the place of a personality, in my opinion. Automobiles or tourists will halt when stopped by a flagman and possibly overlook a signal light when shown in any form, whether a stationary light or a flickering light.

G. P. McCARTY, Wall paper merchant.

There is only one thing that will beat a man at a crossing, and that is a gate. Lights or bells have both been proven unsatisfactory wherever they have been used, and as a source of annoyance and a nuisance to the neighborhood.

A. T. MAHIN, Supt. water & light plant.

It would be the height of folly for the city to allow the flagmen to be replaced at the crossing by flashing signals, as school children would pay no attention to a flash signal. Half the time the motorist's view of the signal would be obstructed. We should have either flagmen or gates.

W. O. FEUDNER, Publisher.

As far as school children are concerned, the lights would not be better than the flagmen. The children need protection. As far as motorists are concerned, the lights are a big improvement.

B. D. FARTHING, County School Supt.

It is a question of safety as to whether school children would observe lights. I don't believe the light plan is very good. Bells would be better than lights for safety of school children. An ordinary person would not hardly think of looking for a light.

DOROTHY SPARKS, County attendance officer.

I think a watchman is better than either a bell or a light.

A. L. GARY, attorney.

I would say that the council should put flagmen on duty in the day time, and the lights at night, which would furnish the best all around protection.

FRED A. CALDWELL, Furniture dealer.

Lights will be worse than bells. Lights don't make any noise, and bells do. Keep the watchmen. Bells have been tried here before and were not satisfactory, and lights would have the same result.

TOM KIRK, tailor.

I don't think the protection will be good. Stay with the old flagmen, or install gates, I would say. Don't let the council permit them to make that mistake.

GEORGE W. YOUNG, attorney

MOVES TO MEET AN EMERGENCY

Pres. Coolidge Calls Federal Fuel
Distributor And Member Of Inter-
state Commerce Commission

PLAN TO PROVIDE SUBSTITUTE

Mining Of Bituminous Coal Can Be
Speeded Up If Anthracite Strike
Developes, He Is Told

Washington, Aug. 22.—President Coolidge today took active steps to prepare the country for the emergency of an anthracite strike.

He called to the white house for a conference on the situation, W. R. Wadleigh, federal fuel distributor, and Clyde B. Aitchison, one of the interstate commerce commissioners.

These men probably will be called on to supply the country with bituminous coal as a substitute for anthracite.

Wadleigh told the president in the discussion of the plans to meet the anthracite strike that there are now seventy-five million tons of bituminous coal above ground.

Mining of bituminous coal is now running at the rate of about 10,500,000 tons a week and Wadleigh said this production would be speeded up to 15,000,000 tons if an anthracite strike develops.

In the tense, anxious atmosphere about the White House, Mr. Coolidge is calm and self-possessed. He acts like a man who knows what he is about and is determined to see it through.

But beyond his announcement the public would not suffer for lack of fuel in event of a strike and his advisers' declaration that Mr. Coolidge is depending solely upon public opinion as a weapon, he has given no hint of his course of action, except for his calling Wadleigh and Aitchison into a conference.

There was discussion today in official quarters of the president calling miners and operators to Washington and offering federal arbitration on the wage question, which caused the latest deadlock.

While the miners are opposed to arbitration on matters of principle, such as the check-off, the question of wages, it was pointed out, involved only matters of fact.

With the question of wages settled, some officials believe an agreement temporarily at least to keep the mines running could be reached.

FOR ISSUING BAD CHECKS

James Corrigan, Employee of Medicine Show, Wanted at Columbus

James Corrigan, an employ with a medicine show that is in this city this week, was arrested this morning upon request of officials at Columbus, Indiana, and he was being held for them. It is understood that he is wanted in Columbus for issuing bad checks, said to have been given last week during the county fair. When arrested Corrigan was at a loss to know what the charge was, and when apprised of the fact, he said that the show company has not been in Columbus, and that last week they were in Carthage.

Corrigan maintains that someone who knew him, forged his name, and obtained money. The sheriff of Bartholomew county was expected this afternoon.

FRANCE STANDS PAT IN ANSWER

Inflexibly Upholds Policy Towards
Germany, Refusing Ruhr Evacua-
tion Until Payment Is Made

NOT IN LEAST CONCILIATORY

French Can Not Understand British
Reasoning Regarding Germany's
Capacity To Pay

By WEBB MILLER
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
Paris, Aug. 22.—France stands pat.

The reply of Premier Poincare to the British reparations note, made public today, inflexibly upheld the French policy toward Germany, refusing evacuation of the Ruhr until payment is made and rejecting any proposal for reduction of the amount of the German debt.

The reply contained little of the conciliatory tone which had been forecast and in many passages was bitter and sarcastic.

Starting with the first British point Poincare said:

"I regret we cannot see the effort England says she has made toward approachment with France's ideas, that is, execution of the treaty of peace."

"Our resolution has been replaced a hundred times not to renounce one centime of reparations, which are sacred," the premier asserted, declaring England has taken no heed of what France considers essential and that the British note is basically unconciliatory.

"I avow that we cannot understand the British reasoning regarding Germany's capacity for payment, for Germany's capacity now is zero, be her own will," the reply declared, adding that a commission of experts to pass upon the capacity of the Reich would be useless.

"Does England wish entirely to suppress Germany's debt on the pretext her capacity to pay temporarily is zero?" Poincare asked.

Referring to the British allusion "to the rights of others," the reply said: "France does not need to be reminded of her duties."

"I regret our lack of accord with England," Poincare said, referring briefly to the British claim that occupation of the additional German territory is illegal. He dismissed the idea of referring the reparations questions to the permanent court of

For Teachers Also Announced By County Superintendent

FIRST INSTITUTE SEPT. 8

The instructors for the teacher's extension work, or winter institute term for the Rush county teachers, have been selected, and subjects announced, according to B. D. Farthing, county school superintendent.

The first institute will be held September 8, or the Saturday before the rural schools open.

The same plan will be followed this year, as last, with the teachers being classified in divisions for lectures and work. The institutes will be held each month, and definite dates will be arranged when they assemble here September 8.

The subjects of the text books to be discussed will be "Society and Its Problems," written by Grovel Samuel Dow, and discussed by Howard Jensen of Butler university; "Introduction to the Study of Literature," written by William Henry Hudson, and taken up by C. M. Curry of the state normal, who was among the instructors last year here and "Principles of Human Geography," written by Huntington and Cushing, and discussed by Prof. Schokel, head of the department of geography and geology of the state normal.

In addition to the regular three teachers, a special speaker will be engaged for each session. Donald DuShane, city superintendent of the Columbus schools, will be here first and talk on the teacher's retirement fund law and on the teacher's federation plan.

Kutne Rockne, Notre Dame Coach, Will Run Through Signals at Kiwanis Convention

MEMBER OF KIWANIS CLUB

State Convention Will be Held at South Bend Sept. 13-14 And Includes Many Features

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 22.—The first peek at the football team that will represent Notre Dame on the gridiron this fall will be given members of the Kiwanis Clubs who visit the State convention to be held in South Bend September 13 and 14.

Kutne Rockne, famed Notre Dame coach and an active member of the South Bend Kiwanis Club has promised that he will have his charges in shape to run through signals during the convention and since many new faces will be seen on the team this year this is sure to be one of the convention features.

The committee in charge of arranging the details of entertainment for the visitors report that especial emphasis will be placed on the program for the women who attend. The plans which are being completed will insure two busy days of social activities and wives of the South Bend members have secured the support of the many social and civic clubs of the city in showing the visiting Kiwanis ladies a royal time.

Every day swells the total of members who have promised to attend the convention and judging by reports from the clubs throughout the state the 1923 convention will eclipse in point of attendance any former gathering. That the national organization of Kiwanis regards the Indiana meeting in the light of unusual importance is evident from the fact that reservations have already been made for three of the International officers, and it is believed at least one more will be in South Bend at least one of the convention days.

Between 150 and 200 farmers attended the combination tour of the county Tuesday, a feature of which was a basket dinner at the Jesse Gray and son farm two miles southwest of Henderson and addresses by J. R. Wiley and W. A. Ostrander of Purdue university.

The trip during the morning consisted of inspections of ton litter prospects belonging to Gray and son R. W. Dawson and son and Chester Meal. Following the dinner, Mr. Wiley spoke to the farmers regarding the ton litter work and the crowd then proceeded to the farm of S. R. Newhouse, where the results of sowing wheat after soy beans were inspected. Mr. Ostrander addressed the farmers in a large barn on the Newhouse farm and the rain storm that came up did not interfere.

People Protest Replacing Of Watchman With Signal Lights

I don't think it is any good. There are too many crossing and too many schools to consider. Light's won't take the place for the safety of children, and besides motorists will sometimes find the view of the lights obstructed by a car in front of them.

EARL E. OSBORNE, City clerk

If you take the flagmen off, you increase the hazard at the street crossings. People will continue to watch for the flagmen and overlook the lights. If the lights were universal, people would be accustomed to them, but with only a few of them in use, the average person will go right on over the tracks.

SIDNEY L. HUNT, Sheriff
I am not in favor of the change. The lights will make matters worse instead of better. Half of the people won't look for the lights. There are too many lights displayed now to attract attention. Keep the flagmen.

ORA BLACKBURN, Police chief.

I don't think it is the right kind of a stunt. There is only one signal these days at railroad crossing, and that is a gate.

EARL CONWAY, city treasurer.

I don't believe that it will be all together satisfactory. I think that the gate system would be a better plan. Flagmen in the day time and those lights at night, would be the next best thing to gates in my opinion. They should have some kind of protection after night.

WIDOW OF LON HINTON DIES

Expires of Tuberculosis of Bowels and Bright's Disease

Mrs. Floretta Alice Hinton, wife of the Late Lon Hinton, expired Tuesday afternoon at her home in Arlington, death resulting from a brief illness with tuberculosis of the bowels and Bright's disease.

The deceased was 62 years old, and although she had been in poor health for some time, her death was rather unexpected. No funeral arrangements have been made on account of the absence of a son, Samuel Hinton of Indianapolis, who is visiting in the east. Two other children, Mrs. Pearl Robinson, of near Indianapolis, and Earl Hinton, also of Indianapolis, survive.

MOVES TO MEET AN EMERGENCY

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 22. — Miners leaders today made final arrangements for suspension of work in the anthracite fields Sept. 1.

Following collapse of the negotiations between miners and operators which came when they were unable to agree on a 20 per cent wage increase, the union chiefs rushed to complete all details incident to the walk-out of 155,000 men.

No further orders are necessary. The suspension goes into effect automatically Sept. 1, unless it is specifically called off.

reduce the amount if it is found that it will not be needed.

This year's levy was 58 cents corporation tax, for the general fund; two cents, park board; two cents, street oiling; five cents, city bonds, and three cents, library tax. The proposed levy for next year is not itemized, the estimate lumping it at eighty cents.

HONEY FLOW FAILURE

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 22.—With the exception of some favored localities the summer honey flow is almost a failure in Indiana and where the state normally produces from six to seven million pounds, it is believed the crop will fall considerably short of this, Frank N. Wallace stated today.

These points are brought out in a letter mailed by the state entomologist's office to several thousand beekeepers of the state. The failure is attributed to a wet late spring with a shortage of honey producing blooms, and the fact that strong active bees became robbers in their quest for sweets.

In the last few years Indiana made great strides as a honey producing state and the delicious product of the bees is now being sold to an ever active market. Honey became more popular during the late war as a substitute for sugar and persons who used it then under compulsion learned to regard it as almost a table necessity.

Apiarists of the state conservation department point out that due to the persistent robbing of bees there is more danger than usual for spreading of foulbrood. Several inspectors from the state entomologist's office are now in the field working to check the disease.

PLENTY OF MUSIC

San Francisco, Aug. 22.—Martial music that quickens the pulse and makes feet step forward with the old-time military precision is an important element in the success of any gathering of former service men.

San Francisco streets will resound with the martial notes of 100 bands and drum corps when members of the American Legion gather here on October 15 for their annual four days' national convention.

Thousands of dollars in cash prizes and many valuable gold and silver trophies will be distributed among the best musical organizations.

Signal Lights

The proposal of the Pennsylvania railroad to invoke an old city ordinance,
passed as an emergency measure,
to permit the railroad to replace street crossing watchmen with signals, will revive the old argument that accompanied the passage of the ordinance a few years ago. Members of the present city council were taken unawares when the safety engineer of the railroad appeared, and there was no action they could take,
at the time, when the railroad representative announced that the company was ready to comply with the terms of the ordinance four years
after it had been passed.

The measure was passed at the behest of the railroad, which advocated the signal bells at railroad crossings, instead of watchmen, as a means of reducing expenses at a time when the railroads were seriously handicapped by poor business and high overhead. Conditions have changed since that time, however, the railroads having begun to recover
from the effects of government ownership and having felt the effect of the revival of business that has been in progress for the past two years.

It would seem, then, that the question of economy does not fit into the case now and that the argument should proceed along the line of safety. Whether the signal lights,
which the railroad proposes to erect,
will provide sufficient protection for people who have to cross the railroad in Rushville is the thing that has to be determined.

The city council does not have to be bound by the old ordinance giving the railroad permission to replace watchmen with signal bells. It can always be repealed. Furthermore, the railroad has offered a loophole by which the city can refuse to permit

the abolishment of the crossing watchmen, providing that the council
finds that it is to the best interest of the people to do so. The old ordinance provides that the railroad
may erect signal bells at given crossings and do away with flagmen. Now comes the railroad and announces that signal lights instead of signal bells will be installed.

This is not sticking to the letter of the ordinance, and although a technicality, the city council could invoke it if councilmen decide that it is a wise thing to do not to permit the watchmen to go. The chief advantage to watchmen, it has long been argued, is in the protection of school children, many of whom have to cross the Pennsylvania. Many also assert that signal lights have many disadvantages, include those that always attach to anything mechanical that is not likely to operate perfectly at all times. View of the lights may also be obscured very easily, it is pointed out.

On the other hand, the Pennsylvania safety engineer says that the signal light has been adopted for uniform use by the American Railroad association and that the lights will be installed every place as rapidly as possible. He told the council they had been placed in use in Franklin, Ind., and that they were giving satisfaction.

Too Much and Too Little

Too much law—too little respect for it. That seems to be one of the greatest problems with which officials are confronted today.

Congress, state legislatures, city councils, village boards, all seem obsessed with a mania for passing laws
—more laws—and still more laws.

The result is, there are so many laws in this country, of one kind or another, the people haven't even a conception of what the majority of them are.

The average citizen knows that he is breaking some kind of a law almost daily without realizing it. He knows, also, that nothing is done about it. They are dead letters, never enforced.

This in time leads him to look upon
all laws with more or less contempt, or at least with indifference, and especially so with those that interfere with his business or pleasure.

What we need in this country is less laws and more rigid enforcement, with a drastic punishment for the law enforcement officer who neglects to perform his duty.

One-third of the laws we have
would be ample, if they were obeyed.
But they will never be obeyed as they should so long as multiplicity creates contempt.

GIANTS AGAIN IN A CRITICAL PLACE

All Work World's Champions Did on Victorious Sweep Through West Has Gone For Nothing

LEAD THREE AND HALF GAMES

Batters Hit The Slide With the Pitchers And John McGraw's Proctegs Are in Bad Way

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, Aug. 22—With their lead filtered away to three and a half games, the New York Giants are once again in that position which might be called critical.

Yesterday, they dropped the final game of the series to the pesky Pittsburgh Pirates and it gave the Pirates a grand total of two out of three. The Cincinnati Reds won and came back again within jabbing distance of the leaders.

All the noble work that the world's champions did on their last victorious sweep through the west has gone for nothing. The lead they acquired by knocking the Pirates groggy and putting the Reds on the floor has faded away through one of the worst slumps the team has had this season.

As long as the Giants mauled and murdered pitchers they were able to get by, even when they were carrying some terrible hurling with them, but the batters have now hit the slide with the pitchers and they are all in a bad fix.

With his pitchers in the hole again, John McGraw can have no happy thoughts over the coming series with the mauling St. Louis Cardinals, unless he can work his offense around to some kind of an effective attack on the enemy.

Just a week ago it looked as if the Giants were a cinch for the pennant. The Cincinnati Reds had been terribly battered in a five game series

Look Pleasant, Mr. Dempsey!

Jack Dempsey spends several hours a day having his picture taken. And they're not all by newspaper photographers. Scores of fair visitors at Saratoga run over to White Sulphur Springs, N. Y., where he is training to ask him to pose for them. Here is Miss Catherine Banker, New York City, catching a pleasant look.

that was their big opportunity to get the lead. The Reds looked as if they were passed for the rest of the season but Pat Moran kept them playing. Perhaps he might have had an idea that the Giants were bound, as all ball clubs are, to get into an occasional slump.

McGraw switched his batting order and line-up in the final game with the Pirates. He shoved Jimmy O'Connell, the $75,000 beauty who has been doing bench duty, back into the game and allowed Casey Stengel to sit in the shade. He moved Dave Bancroft up to the lead-off position, put Frisch second in the batting order and placed Pep Young third, but it worked no better than his other combinations.

McGraw felt that the Reds and the Pirates would fade away after taking a beating from the Giants during the last western trip of the champions, but they have not faded and they are still fighting.

America's "Big Four" Will Defend Davis Cup Again This Year

New York, Aug. 22—America's "big four"—Bill Tilden, Bill Johnston, Vincent Richards, and Dick Williams—will act as the defenders of the Davis cup against the Australian challengers in the cup matches starting at Forest Hills on August 31.

After long consideration, the selection committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association decided upon the same team that successfully defended the cup last year and again named Dick Williams as the captain.

The Score Board

Five runs scored in the first inning when Watson blew up, gave the Pirates a big lead and they beat the Giants 9 to 5.

The Reds came back within 3½ games of the Giants by beating the Phils, 7 to 5.

Heavy batting by Hornsby and Bottomley gave the Cardinals an 8 to 2 victory over the Braves.

Brooklyn dropped down to sixth place when the Cubs bumped Vance and Henry and won 9 to 1.

NEW SALEM WHIPS HOMER

The New Salem baseball team added another victory Sunday when they defeated Homer, 8 to 1. Gowdy was in good form and struck out 17 men, while Jones for Homer struck out five. Reeves, Ricketts, Moore, Marshall and Wilson were again on the team and it was no difficulty for them to win over Homer. Next Sunday the team will journey to Batesville to meet the Orioles, and New Salem is taking along their regular line-up with the hopes of beating the team, which nosed them out a few Sundays ago at New Salem.

Good Trades That Went Wrong

(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Aug. 22—After having guessed good and wrong, several major league managers are prepared to argue that there are no brains, science or judgment in trading and it is just a question of luck in getting the good break on a swap.

The only consolation in discarding a worn-out king that fills a straight in another man's hand is that others have done it before, and the old baseball alibi covers the offense: "How can you beat it?"

The most outstanding example of a good trade that went wrong happened in the case of Ty Cobb and the failure of a deal to turn out as the Tiger leader had reason to expect it, blew what was generally regarded as a good chance for Detroit to win the pennant or be way up there.

Howard Ehmke wasn't doing much good with the Tigers. Cobb didn't like him, and the Detroit fans figured that the club could get along without him.

Cobb made then what looked like a slick move when he traded Ehmke and Hollings to the Boston Red Sox for Del Pratt and Rip Collins.

In return for what was regarded as excess baggage, Cobb got a good second baseman, whom he expected to fill a big hole and make the Tiger infield. And in Rip Collins he acquired a pitcher of ability who looked to be just about ready for stardom.

As Detroit figured that Cobb has secured all the best of the deal, so the Boston fans thought that they had received the worst of it, and Harry Frazee was censured for the last over tact in breaking up a great ball club just to fatten his pocket-book.

It wasn't long until the whole color changed. Pratt fell down at second base and Collins was a terrible "bust" as a pitcher. The Tigers collapsed and fell out of the running.

On the other hand, Ehmke pulled a sensational reversal of form with the Red Sox and turned into one of the best pitchers of the season.

Then there was the case of the Cleveland Indians, who turned "Stuff" Melnis loose because he was thought not worth the big salary called for in his contract. Speaker had Guisto ready to step on first base and he was judged to be worth more in "Stuff's" place than in a seat on the bench. Guisto was given the regular assignment and he proved a "bust". His health went bad and Speaker had to shift Brower, an outfielder, to first.

Melnis also was instrumental in making the management of the St.

and when he was grabbed by the Boston Braves, the Brown management had to take a castoff rookie from Brooklyn to fill the Sizzler's place.

INTENDED TO KILL HIMSELF, LOST NERVE

Bruce Weimar, Charleston, Ills., Gives Up Body Of His Wife Whom He Murdered

FOUND HER WITH ANOTHER

(By United Press)

Charleston, Ill., Aug. 22. —A story of how he drove through the darkness of the night with the dead body of his wife in the back seat of his automobile in an effort to find nerve enough to kill himself, was told the coroner's jury by Bruce Weimar, who is held on a charge of murder.

Weimar yesterday surrendered to the sheriff and admitted he murdered his wife and carried her body through the night in the back seat of his automobile.

He told the coroner's jury which held him for murder without bond, that he found his wife with another man in a Decatur hotel. He got her to accompany him to Charleston and shot her as she sat beside him. He said he had planned to kill himself immediately after shooting his wife but lost his nerve when he saw his wife's body slump to the floor of his car. He said he drove all night with the body trying to get nerve enough to kill himself. With the break of dawn, he said, he decided to give himself up and let the law take its course.

Secret of His Success

One of the most noted, successful and richest men of this country in a recent article said, "Whatever I am and whatever success I have attained in this world I owe it all to my wife. From that day I first knew her she has been an inspiration and the greatest helpmate of my life." Health is the first essential of every woman who wants to be a successful wife and to hold the love and admiration of her husband. If a woman finds her energies flagging and dark circles appearing under her eyes, she has backache, headaches, nervousness and "the blues", she should take Lydia E. FREIGHT LOADINGS BREAK THE RECORD

For Eighth Time in Ten Consecutive Weeks, New High Mark Is Set Week Of July 28

BAROMETER OF PROSPERITY

Increase Over Record Established Week Of July 21 Due To Larger Grain Loadings

Indianapolis, Ind., August 22. — Records for revenue freight loadings were broken again with a total of 1,041,044 cars during the week ended July 28, according to the announcement received here today from the American Railway Association.

As a barometer of the present national prosperity, the week was the eighth time in ten consecutive weeks that the freight loadings have exceeded the million car mark. The heaviest previous loading was in the week ended July 21, with 1,028,927 cars.

Livestock, ore and coke loadings were the only items that showed a decrease over the previous week each showing a gain over the corresponding period of last year. Freight for the week also exceeded the corresponding closing week of July, 1922, by 192,186 cars and the corresponding week of 1921 by 245,612 cars. It also exceeded by a wide margin,

the corresponding weeks in 1918, 1919 and 1920.

The establishment of the new record was made possible by the increase over the week before in the total loading of grain and grain products, coal, forest products, merchandise and miscellaneous freight, including manufactured products.

Loading of grain and grain products totaled 53,169 cars, an increase of 6,885 cars over the week before. Coal loading totaled 194,546 cars, an increase of 3,758 over the preceding week and 118,251 over the same week last year when most coal miners were on strike. Loading of merchandise and miscellaneous freight totalled 585,783 cars, 1,376 cars in excess of the previous week, and 30,110 cars more than the week of last year. Loading of forest products amounted to 77,789 cars, or 1991 more cars than the preceding week and an increase of 20,182 over the same week last year. Livestock loading reached 31,849 cars, a decrease of 605 cars over the preceding week, but an increase of 5,181 over a year ago. Ore loading totaled 83,633 cars, a week before, but an increase decrease of 674 compared with the of 18,761 cars over the corresponding week last year. Coke loadings amounted to 14,274 cars, 614 cars under the week before, but an increase of 5,187 cars over last year.

AMUSEMENTS

Lila Lee At Princess

Thrilling rescues at sea, terrible storms, said to equal in realism nature in her angriest mood, an unusually appealing love theme—these are the principal features of "Home-ward Bound," a new Paramount picture starring Thomas Meighan which will be on view at the Princess theatre for two days beginning today. Lila Lee who played opposite Mr. Meighan in "The Ne'er-Do-Well," is his leading woman in this new screen offering.

Mr. Meighan is a seaman in this delightful story, while Miss Lee is the daughter of a ship owner who unaccountably detests the sailor in his employ. He is unaware that Jim Bedford, the sailor in question loves his daughter and that she returns his love. She goes to sea in a palatial yacht, the command of which had been wrested by Bedford from Stevenson, a cowardly skipper. This sets in motion a series of thrilling events which go far to make this perhaps the best sea picture screened in many months. Of course the finish, although surprising is pleasing to the spectator.

The supporting players are well add value to the picture as pure entertainment. These include, among others Charles Abbe, William T. Carleton, Gus Weinberg, Maude Turner Gordon and Cyril Ring. The production was directed by Ralph Ince and the story was written by Peter B. Kyne, under the title, "The Light to Leeward."

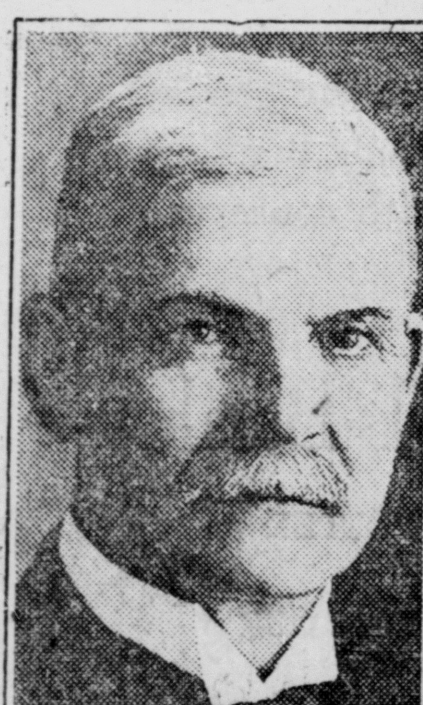

Doris May At Mystic

Doris May in her latest R-C comedy "The Understudy" is the attraction at the Mystic today where the light-hearted young comedienne and her supporting company are regaling local theatregoers with comedy. COMPLETE SURVEY OF INDIANA OIL FIELDS

Field Corps of Geologists Complete Work Which is in Addition to Regular Field Work

NEW POOL MAY BE THE RESULT

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 22—A survey of the Indiana oil fields has just been completed by a field corps of geologists from the state conservation department, this work being in addition to their regular summer field investigations. Dr. W. N. Logan, state geologist, announced today.
Fields surveyed were the Hazleton,
Union, Mt. Olympus, Wheeling,
Princeton and Francisco.

According to Mr. Logan a line of levels was run on all the wells in each field, well logs were collected from drillers and operators, and will be studied and the oil sands plotted. Contour lines will be drawn on some easily recognizable key horizon, and the structural conditions
thus outlined.

The Wheeling, Dr. Logan says, is being developed, and a further extension of the field is possible. A study of the structural conditions
may be helpful in development work,
he points out.

An extension of the Francisco field
or the opening of a new pool may result, according to Dr. Logan, from the discovery of oil on the Barrett lease. This property lies about three miles south of Francisco, and is southeast of the old wells in the Francisco field.

The remarkable longevity of the wells in the Princeton field is encouraging development throughout the southwestern Indiana territory,
and small production of the individual wells is offset by the long producing period, state conservation officials say.

THIS IS DAY FOR ALL AUTOMOBILE OWNERS

Cheap Gas, Cheap Tires, Cheap Batteries Are All Making Life Worth Living For Motorists

SWEEEPING REDUCTIONS MADE

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 22—Every dog may have his day, but this is the day for auto owners. Cheap gas, cheap tires, cheap batteries, cheap accessories are all making life worth living for the motorist now.

At the beginning of the year the motorist was told that everything connected with motor vehicle operation was on the increase as far as cost is concerned.

Tires advanced 20 percent in only a few months, the state put a two cent tax on gasoline, and business prophets predicted a great advance
in car prices.

Then came August and everything began to fall. The retail price of gas tumbled. Several makes of tires were reduced. The latest automotive product to hit the price toboggan "was batteries. Within the past two weeks sweeping reductions in battery prices have been announced.

So the car owner fills his car with cheap gas, turns his motor over with cheap electricity, and rolls away on cheap tires for the most miles per dollar he has experienced for a long time.

10-CENT INCREASE IN LEVY PROPOSED

Tax Rate of 80 Cents Will be Required to Raise $63,214 To Meet
City Budget Expenses

Budget Includes Proposed Appropriations For Various Departments of City Government

The city council, which met Tuesday night, fixed the tax budget of expenses for the year 1924, and it was estimated in the report approved and published, that it will be necessary to raise $63,214, for the operating expenses for the ensuing year, which figured on the net taxables of $7,798,384, will require a tax levy of 80 cents, or an increase of ten cents over this year.

According to law, the council must meet and prepare what they believe a conservative estimate on the expense of city government for the ensuing year, and itemize each division for the taxpayers to look over, and on the night that the appropriations are made and the levy is fixed, the taxpayers will be heard if they wish to remonstrate.

In figuring up the money that will be needed next year, the most important is salaries, which will total $15,255. This is divided into the following branches: Mayor $600; clerk
$600; firemen $6,600; treasurer, $1,- 500; councilmen (5) $500; police,
$4,000; city attorney, $200; health board, $175; street commissioner, $1,080.

Then comes the various divisions
that will require money next year,
and this includes the garbage collector, $699; printing $250; nurse $480; street and alley intersections,
$2,500; bonded indebtedness, $7,100;
fire engine note and interest $3,180;
office supplies, $475; street oiling,
$2,000; department of law, $100.
Special judge, $50; park fund, $1,- 500; street department, $10,000; fire department, $3,400; sewer outlet contract $7,500; public utilities $12,- 000; health board, $225; library fund $1,500; city dump $50; engineering $500; dead animals $50; state board of accounts, $100; miscellaneous, $1,262.50.

Although the estimate for the city will cause a ten cent increase in the tax rate, yet when the council meets to determine the levy for the various divisions, it will probably be reduced.

In making the budget for expenditures, it is usually made higher than needed, because after it has been established the treasurer cannot pay out more than advertised, but can

Members of Alleged Bootleggers
Gang Quizzed at Brookville in Running Down Clues to Slayings

(By United Press)

Brookville, Ind., Aug. 22—Two more members of an alleged bootleggers gang, operating in Franklin county, were taken into custody today and quizzed by county authorities, seeking to run down the two automobile bandits, who shot and killed
William VanCamp Monday morning.

One of the two witnesses gave his name as Vincent Bolling, of Dayton, Ohio. The name of the other, a woman,
was not revealed by authorities.

Both were held on charges of illicit transportation of liquor. It was reported that the authorities had picked up a new clue to the identity of the slayer as the result of the questioning.

Citizens of Brookville today arranged a military funeral for William VanCamp, sheriff of Franklin county who was shot by two auto bandits near here Monday.

The Brookville American Legion post, of which Sheriff VanCamp was a member, will have charge of the military services at the grave tomorrow afternoon.

Searching parties have scoured
the country since the morning of the murder, but no trace of the suspects has been found.

Postponed Until Alleged Nude Mo-
torist Can Be Arraigned in Court

The case of the state against Harold Case, 333 West Tenth street, the alleged nude driver, who is charged with public indecency was continued today in Justice Stech's court until September 7. Many witnesses were summoned for the case,
but the state decided to wait until after the opening of the circuit court, as the defendant will be given a hearing before Judge Sparks on the matter.

He is under a suspended sentence
and if the court has reason to believe that the defendant has not conducted himself as he should, the suspension will be recalled, and the imprisonment ordered.

The greatest damage was probably done to the corn, it was indicated, the gale laying most of it low. Some corn had already been blown down in a wind storm one week ago last Sunday.

The rain, which resembled a cloudburst throughout the country,
was of great benefit to the corn crop, according to farmers, who had complained that the dry weather of the last few weeks had stunted the development of the ears.

The rainfall amounted to 2.56 in.
according to Elwood Kirkwood, the county weather observer. He said there was 2.41 inches of rain in one hour and forty minutes.

The rain was said to be of immense benefit to pasture lands,
which were "burning up" on account of the dry weather.

Rushville streets were flooded, because the rain fell in such torrents that the storm sewers could not carry the water away. Water stood down several streets and in some places was two or three feet deep. Many automobiles were stalled as the result of the drenching.

Limbs were blown from trees and the streets were strewn with debris
this morning, resembling the morning after a cyclone. It was thought that something in the vicinity of

Further Work Is Done On The Wil-
liam R. Laughlin Memorial

The immense boulder upon which will be placed a bronze memorial tablet for William R. Laughlin, first citizen of Rush county, was put in place on a foundation just east of the north entrance to the court house today. The tablet will be unveiled with appropriate ceremony
when it is completed.

The movement to honor the memory of Dr. Laughlin was started during the Rush county centennial in June, 1922, and public subscriptions have been obtained by a committee headed by Mrs. Margaret English.

The boulder was obtained from the farm of Bert Norris in Noble township and the work is being done by the Schriebe Monumental Works.

GETTING THE RANGE AT LAST

Safety Engineer For Pennsylvania
Railroad Notifies Council Signal
Lights Will Be Installed

TO DO AWAY WITH WATCHMEN

Fight to Retain Them in 1919 When Ordinance Was Passed Is Recalled
—Objection to Lights

An ordinance passed during a former city administration, and forgotten about years ago, was brought to the attention of the city council Tuesday night, when they met in regular session, and the Pennsylvania railroad announced that they are now ready to do away with the crossing watchmen in the city, and install signals at the street crossings.

In 1919, the ordinance was passed,
when the council was induced to assist the railroad on account of financial troubles, and it was decreed that the crossings in the city could be satisfactorily guarded with signal lights, in place of the four watchmen
now on duty.

The ordinance was passed primarily for the purpose of reducing the expense of keeping the watchmen.
The railroad at that time consented to install bells at eight streets, namely, Third, Jackson, Fifth, Harrison, Morgan, Seventh, Main and Perkins.
The streets now guarded by crossing watchmen are Third, Harrison, Seventh and Main.

When the council in 1919 was drafting the ordinance, people of Rushville were opposed to the plan,
and a remonstrance of nearly 1,000
names was presented, voicing their disapproval to the idea of doing away with the flagmen. The councilmen, however, passed the ordinance regardless.

No action was ever taken by the railroad to fulfill their contract on the ordinance, and it was completely forgotten until last night, when Mr.
Miller, a safety engineer for the railroad, appeared before the council, and announced that they were ready to proceed at once with the signal system.

He said that the railroad had decided to install a red light system, instead of bells. The red light will be placed about five or six feet high,
on each side of the street, with the light facing the driver of a machine on the right side. When the train approaches, the red light will flash
on and off, and he said it could be

PEOPLE PROTEST REPLACING OF WATCHMEN WITH SIGNAL LIGHTS

Scores of protests were made today by the people of Rushville when asked the question, "What kind of protection would you rather have at the street crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad—bells, lights, watchmen or gates?" Each person to whom the question was put was given an explanation that the railroad company was preparing to install signal lights, to replace the flagmen,
and every person interviewed at random today, voiced disapproval to the plan.

"Keep the watchmen," seemed to be the prevailing note with each person. One person stated that if the council permitted the ordinance to stand, that they should be held liable for any accident that might happen.

It has been pointed out that the signal lights are excellent protection
at night, but the railroad operates only two or three trains during darkness.

The crossing watchmen were ordered at the streets years ago—in fact long before the automobiles came into general use. The watchmen were placed there to safeguard the pedestrians, and particularly the school children. A light cannot shoot a word of warning to a little tot that might step in front of a train, but a flagman standing in the center of a street has saved many a small child from stepping too close to or in front of a train, it is pointed out.

One person interviewed stated that the railroad in question did not hesitate to demand higher rates, and always had selfish motives apparently,
and on account of high rates, the people of Rushville should be given protection in return.

Here is what a few persons said
today:

I don't believe it would be very satisfactory; that is my honest opinion, although I have not had any experience about it.

BERT ORME, Taxi owner.

I am absolutely against taking away flagmen. There is only one substitute thing and that is gates.

CLARENCE CROSS, Postal clerk
Of the two, I would rather have the lights than the bells, but neither is as good as a watchman, if he attends to his business.

GEORGE C. WYATT, Furniture
dealer.

I don't think the lights will beat a man. In the first place lights are not to be depended upon. They are out half the time. A man in the street is the only thing.

JOE WILLIAMSON, Fire chief

There is nothing to take the place of a personality, in my notion. Automobiles or tourists will halt when stopped by a flagman and possibly overlook a signal light when shown in any form, whether a stationary light or a flickering light.

G. P. McCARTY, Wall paper merchant.

There is only one thing that will beat a man at a crossing, and that is a gate. Lights or bells have both been proven unsatisfactory wherever they have been used, and as a source of annoyance and a nuisance to the neighborhood.

A. T. MAHIN, Supt. water & light plant.

It would be the height of folly for the city to allow the flagmen to be replaced at the crossing by flashing signals, as school children would pay no attention to a flash signal.
Half the time the motorist's view of the signal would be obstructed. We should have either flagmen or gates.

W. O. FEUDNER, Publisher.

As far as school children are concerned, the lights would not be better than the flagmen. The children need protection. As far as motorists are concerned, the lights are a big improvement.

B. D. FARTHING, County School
Supt.

It is a question of safety as to whether school children would observe lights. I don't believe the light plain is very good. Bells would be better than lights for safety of school children. An ordinary person would not hardly think of looking for a light.

DOROTHY SPARKS, County attendance officer.

I think a watchman is better than either a bell or a light.

A. L. GARY, attorney.

I would say that the council should put flagmen on duty in the day time,
and the lights at night, which would furnish the best all around protection.

FRED A. CALDWELL, Furniture
dealer.

Lights will be worse than bells.
Lights don't make any noise, and bells do. Keep the watchmen. Bells have been tried here before and were not satisfactory, and lights would have the same result.

TOM KIRK, tailor.

I don't think the protection will be good. Stay with the old flagmen, or install gates, I would say. Don't let the council permit them to make that mistake.

GEORGE W. YOUNG, attorney

MOVES TO MEET AN EMERGENCY

Pres. Coolidge Calls Federal Fuel
Distributor And Member Of Inter-
state Commerce Commission

Mining Of Bituminous Coal Can Be
Speeded Up If Anthracite Strike
Develops, He Is Told

Washington, Aug. 22.—President Coolidge today took active steps to prepare the country for the emergency of an anthracite strike.

He called to the white house for a conference on the situation, W.
R. Wadleigh, federal fuel distributor, and Clyde B. Aitchison, one of the interstate commerce commissioners.

These men probably will be called on to supply the country with bituminous coal as a substitute for anthracite.

Wadleigh told the president in the discussion of the plans to meet the anthracite strike that there are now seventy-five million tons of bituminous coal above ground.

Mining of bituminous coal is now running at the rate of about 10,500,- 000 tons a week and Wadleigh said
this production would be speeded up to 15,000,000 tons if an anthracite strike develops.

In the tense, anxious atmosphere
about the White House, Mr. Coolidge is calm and self-possessed. He acts like a man who knows what he is about and is determined to see it through.

But beyond his announcement the public would not suffer for lack of fuel in event of a strike and his advisers' declaration that Mr. Coolidge is depending solely upon public opinion as a weapon, he has given no hint of his course of action, except for his calling Wadleigh and Aitchison into a conference.

There was discussion today in official quarters of the president
calling miners and operators to Washington and offering federal arbitration on the wage question, which caused the latest deadlock.

While the miners are opposed to arbitration on matters of principle,
such as the check-off, the question of wages, it was pointed out, involved only matters of fact.

With the question of wages settled, some officials believe an agreement temporarily at least to keep the mines running could be reached.

FOR ISSUING BAD CHECKS

James Corrigan, Employee of Medicine Show, Wanted at Columbus

James Corrigan, an employ with a medicine show that is in this city
this week, was arrested this morning
upon request of officials at Columbus, Indiana, and he was being held for trial. It is understood that he is wanted in Columbus for issuing bad checks, said to have been given last week during the county fair. When arrested Corrigan was at a loss to know what the charge was, and when apprised of the fact, he said that the show company has not been in Columbus, and that last week they were in Carthage.

Corrigan maintains that someone who knew him, forged his name, and obtained money. The sheriff of Bartholomew county was expected this afternoon.

FRANCE STANDS PAT IN ANSWER

Inflexibly Upholds Policy Towards
Germany, Refusing Ruhr Evacua-
tion Until Payment Is Made

French Can Not Understand British
Reasoning Regarding Germany's
Capacity To Pay

By WEBB MILLER
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
Paris, Aug. 22.—France stands pat.

The reply of Premier Poincare
to the British reparations note,
made public today, inflexibly upheld
the French policy toward Germany,
refusing evacuation of the Ruhr until payment is made and rejecting any proposal for reduction of the amount of the German debt.

The reply contained little of the conciliatory tone which had been forecast and in many passages was bitter and sarcastic.

Starting with the first British point Poincare said:

"I regret we cannot see the effort England says she has made toward approachment with France's ideas, that is, execution of the treaty of peace."

"Our resolution has been replaced a hundred times not to renounce one centime of reparations, which are sacred," the premier asserted, declaring England has taken no heed
of what France considers essential and that the British note is basically unconciliatory.

"I avow that we cannot understand the British reasoning regarding Germany's capacity for payment, for Germany's capacity now is zero, he her own will," the reply declared, adding that a commission of experts to pass upon the capacity of the Reich would be useless.

"Does England wish entirely to suppress Gergan's debt on the yretext her capacity to pay temporarily is zero?" Poincare asked.

Referring to the British allusion
"to the rights of others," the reply said: "France does not need to be reminded of her duties."

"I regret our lack of accord with England," Poincare said, referring briefly to the British claim that occupation of the additional German territory is illegal. He dismissed the idea of referring the reparations questions to the permanent court of Cushing, and discussed by Prof.

Schokel, head of the department of geography and geology of the state normal.

In addition to the regular three teachers, a special speaker will be

State Convention Will be Held at South Bend Sept. 13-14 And Includes Many Features

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 22—The first peek at the football team that will represent Notre Dame on the gridiron this fall will be given members of the Kiwanis Clubs who visit the State convention to be held in South Bend September 13 and 14.

Kutne Rockne, famed Notre Dame coach and an active member of the South Bend Kiwanis Club has promised that he will have his charges in shape to run through signals during the convention and since many new faces will be seen on the team this year this is sure to be one of the convention features.

The committee in charge of arranging the details of entertainment for the visitors report that especial emphasis will be placed on the program for the women who attend. The plans which are being completed will insure two busy days of social activities and wives of the South Bend members have secured the support of the many social and civic clubs of the city in showing the visiting Kiwanis ladies a royal time.

Every day swells the total of members who have promised to attend the convention and judging by reports from the clubs throughout the state the 1923 convention will eclipse in point of attendance any former gathering. That the national organization of Kiwanis regards the Indiana meeting in the light of unusual importance is evident from the fact that reservations have already been made for three of the International officers, and it is believed at least one more will be in South Bend at least one of the convention days.

STORM DAMAGE LIGHT LOCALLY

Rushville had been struck by lightning, as there were several vivid flashes and loud reports, but no reports of damage were received.

Lightning struck a corn crib on Omer Greenwood's farm north of Raleigh, but no great damage was done. Three large hogs belonging to Mr. Greenwood were killed by lightning.

Milroy, Falmouth, Mays, Arlington, New Salem, Carthage and Greenwood reported no damage from the storm, but the rain was very heavy in all of these communities.

Two Killed By Lightning

Indianapolis, Ind., August 22.—A man and a woman were killed and two other persons were injured by lightning during a violent thunderstorm which swept over Indianapolis late yesterday.

Four fires were started by lightning and trees were blown down by the high wind.

James T. Caldwell, 24, was killed as he sought shelter from the rain under a tree in Fairview Park. Miss Lucile Morris, 21, his companion, was severely burned by the bolt.

Mrs. August Henry, 46, who lived on an island in White River, was killed when lightning struck the tent in which she lived. John Milburn, for whom she was acting as housekeeper was slightly injured.

COMBINATION TOUR IS HELD

Between 150 And 200 Farmers On Inspection Trip Tuesday

Between 150 and 200 farmers attended the combination tour litter and soy bean tour of the county Tuesday, a feature of which was a basket dinner at the Jesse Gray and son farm two miles southwest of Henderson and addresses by J. R. Wiley and W. A. Ostrander of Purdue university.

The trip during the morning consisted of inspections of ton litter prospects belonging to Gray and son R. W. Dawson and son and Chester Meal. Following the dinner, Mr. Wiley spoke to the farmers regarding the ton litter work and the crowd then proceeded to the farm of S. R. Newhouse, where the results of sowing wheat after soy beans were inspected. Mr. Ostrander addressed the farmers in a large barn on the Newhouse farm and the rain storm that came up did not interfere.

People Protest Replacing Of Watchman With Signal Lights

I don't think it is any good. There are too many crossing and too many schools to consider. Light's won't take the place for the safety of children, and besides motorists will sometimes find the view of the lights obstructed by a car in front of them.

EARL E. OSBORNE, City clerk

If you take the flagmen off, you increase the hazard at the street crossings. People will continue to watch for the flagmen and overlook the lights. If the lights were universal, people would be accustomed to them, but with only a few of them in use, the average person will go right on over the tracks.

SIDNEY L. HUNT, Sheriff

I am not in favor of the change. The lights will make matters worse instead of better. Half of the people won't look for the lights. There are too many lights displayed now to attract attention. Keep the flagmen.

ORA BLACKBURN, Police chief.

I don't think it is the right kind of a stunt. There is only one signal these days at railroad crossing, and that is a gate.

EARL CONWAY, city treasurer.

I don't believe that it will be all together satisfactory. I think that the gate system would be a better plan. Flagmen in the day time and those lights at night, would be the next best thing to gates in my opinion. They should have some kind of protection after night.

Mrs. Floretta Alice Hinton, wife of the late Lon Hinton, expired Tuesday afternoon at her home in Arlington, death resulting from a brief illness with tuberculosis of the bowels and Bright's disease.

The deceased was 62 years old, and although she had been in poor health for some time, her death was rather unexpected. No funeral arrangements have been made on account of the absence of a son, Samuel Hinton of Indianapolis, who is visiting in the east. Two other children, Mrs. Pearl Robinson, of near Indianapolis, and Earl Hinton, also of Indianapolis, survive.

MOVES TO MEET AN EMERGENCY

All talk of a special session of congress was regarded as idle in view of the president's opposition to that course. Resort to an injunction, the legality of which is seriously questioned, was likewise believed to be remote.

State Convention Will be Held at South Bend Sept. 13-14 And Includes Many Features

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 22—The first peek at the football team that will represent Notre Dame on the gridiron this fall will be given members of the Kiwanis Clubs who visit the State convention to be held in South Bend September 13 and 14.

Kutne Rockne, famed Notre Dame coach and an active member of the South Bend Kiwanis Club has promised that he will have his charges in shape to run through signals during the convention and since many new faces will be seen on the team this year this is sure to be one of the convention features.

The committee in charge of arranging the details of entertainment for the visitors report that especial emphasis will be placed on the program for the women who attend. The plans which are being completed will insure two busy days of social activities and wives of the South Bend members have secured the support of the many social and civic clubs of the city in showing the visiting Kiwanis ladies a royal time.

Every day swells the total of members who have promised to attend the convention and judging by reports from the clubs throughout the state the 1923 convention will eclipse in point of attendance any former gathering. That the national organization of Kiwanis regards the Indiana meeting in the light of unusual importance is evident from the fact that reservations have already been made for three of the International officers, and it is believed at least one more will be in South Bend at least one of the convention days.

Rushville had been struck by lightning, as there were several vivid flashes and loud reports, but no reports of damage were received.

Lightning struck a corn crib on Omer Greenwood's farm north of Raleigh, but no great damage was done. Three large hogs belonging to Mr. Greenwood were killed by lightning.

Milroy, Falmouth, Mays, Arlington, New Salem, Carthage and Greenwood reported no damage from the storm, but the rain was very heavy in all of these communities.

Two Killed By Lightning

Indianapolis, Ind., August 22.—A man and a woman were killed and two other persons were injured by lightning during a violent thunderstorm which swept over Indianapolis late yesterday.

Four fires were started by lightning and trees were blown down by the high wind.

James T. Caldwell, 24, was killed as he sought shelter from the rain under a tree in Fairview Park. Miss Lucile Morris, 21, his companion, was severely burned by the bolt.

Mrs. August Henry, 46, who lived on an island in White River, was killed when lightning struck the tent in which she lived. John Milburn, for whom she was acting as housekeeper was slightly injured.

COMBINATION TOUR IS HELD

Between 150 and 200 farmers attended the combination tour litter and soy bean tour of the county Tuesday, a feature of which was a basket dinner at the Jesse Gray and son farm two miles southwest of Henderson and addresses by J. R. Wiley and W. A. Ostrander of Purdue university.

The trip during the morning consisted of inspections of ton litter prospects belonging to Gray and son R. W. Dawson and son and Chester Meal. Following the dinner, Mr. Wiley spoke to the farmers regarding the ton litter work and the crowd then proceeded to the farm of S. R. Newhouse, where the results of sowing wheat after soy beans were inspected. Mr. Ostrander addressed the farmers in a large barn on the Newhouse farm and the rain storm that came up did not interfere.

BIBLE THOUGHT
—FOR TODAY—
DOMINION:—God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind.—2 Timothy 1: 7.

Signal Lights
The proposal of the Pennsylvania railroad to invoke an old city ordinance, passed as an emergency measure, to permit the railroad to replace street crossing watchmen with signals, will revive the old argument that accompanied the passage of the ordinance a few years ago. Members of the present city council were taken unawares when the safety engineer of the railroad appeared, and there was no action they could take, at the time, when the railroad representative announced that the company was ready to comply with the terms of the ordinance four years after it had been passed.
The measure was passed at the behest of the railroad, which advocated the signal bells at railroad crossings, instead of watchmen, as a means of reducing expenses at a time when the railroads were seriously handicapped by poor business and high overhead. Conditions have changed since that time, however, the railroads having begun to recover from the effects of government ownership and having felt the effect of the revival of business that has been in progress for the past two years.
It would seem, then, that the question of economy does not fit into the case now and that the argument should proceed along the line of safety. Whether the signal lights, which the railroad proposes to erect, will provide sufficient protection for people who have to cross the railroad in Rushville is the thing that has to be determined.
The city council does not have to be bound by the old ordinance giving the railroad permission to replace watchmen with signal bells. It can always be repealed. Furthermore, the railroad has offered a loophole by which the city can refuse to permit the abolishment of the crossing watchmen, providing that the council finds that it is to the best interest of the people to do so. The old ordinance provides that the railroad may erect signal bells at given crossings and do away with flagmen. Now comes the railroad and announces that signal lights instead of signal bells will be installed.

This is not sticking to the letter of the ordinance, and although a technicality, the city council could invoke it if councilmen decide that it is a wise thing to do not to permit the watchmen to go. The chief advantage to watchmen, it has long been argued, is in the protection of school children, many of whom have to cross the Pennsylvania. Many also assert that signal lights have many disadvantages, include those that always attach to anything mechanical that is not likely to operate perfectly at all times. View of the lights may also be obscured very easily, it is pointed out.
On the other hand, the Pennsylvania safety engineer says that the signal light has been adopted for uniform use by the American Railroad association and that the lights will be installed every place as rapidly as possible. He told the council they had been placed in use in Franklin, Ind., and that they were giving satisfaction.

Too much law—too little respect for it. That seems to be one of the greatest problems with which officials are confronted today.
Congress, state legislatures, city councils, village boards, all seem obsessed with a mania for passing laws—more laws—and still more laws.
The result is, there are so many laws in this country, of one kind or another, the people haven't even a conception of what the majority of them are.
The average citizen knows that he is breaking some kind of a law almost daily without realizing it. He knows, also, that nothing is done about it. They are dead letters, never enforced.
This in time leads him to look upon all laws with more or less contempt, or at least with indifference, and especially so with those that interfere with his business or pleasure.
What we need in this country is less laws and more rigid enforcement, with a drastic punishment for the law enforcement officer who neglects to perform his duty.
One-third of the laws we have would be ample, if they were obeyed. But they will never be obeyed as they should so long as multiplicity creates contempt.

GIANTS AGAIN IN A CRITICAL PLACE

All Work World's Champions Did on Victorious Sweep Through West Has Gone For Nothing

LEAD THREE AND HALF GAMES

Batters Hit The Slide With the Pitchers And John McGraw's Proteges Are in Bad Way

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, Aug. 22—With their lead filtered away to three and a half games, the New York Giants are once again in that position which might be called critical.

Yesterday, they dropped the final game of the series to the pesky Pittsburgh Pirates and it gave the Pirates a grand total of two out of three. The Cincinnati Reds won and came back again within jabbing distance of the leaders.

All the noble work that the world's champions did on their last victorious sweep through the west has gone for nothing. The lead they acquired by knocking the Pirates groggy and putting the Reds on the floor has faded away through one of the worst slumps the team has had this season.

As long as the Giants mauled and murdered pitchers they were able to get by, even when they were carrying some terrible hurling with them, but the batters have now hit the slide with the pitchers and they are all in a bad fix.

With his pitchers in the hole again, John McGraw can have no happy thoughts over the coming series with the mauling St. Louis Cardinals, unless he can work his offense around to some kind of an effective attack on the enemy.

Just a week ago it looked as if the Giants were a cinch for the pennant. The Cincinnati Reds had been terribly battered in a five game series

Look Pleasant, Mr. Dempsey!

Y., where he is training to ask him to pose for them. Here is Miss Catherine Banker, New York City, catching a pleasant look.

that was their big opportunity to get the lead. The Reds looked as if they were passed for the rest of the season but Pat Moran kept them playing. Perhaps he might have had an idea that the Giants were bound, as all ball clubs are, to get into an occasional slump.

McGraw switched his batting order and line-up in the final game with the Pirates. He shoved Jimmy O'Connell, the $75,000 beauty who has been doing bench duty, back into the game and allowed Casey Stengel to sit in the shade. He moved Dave Bauercroft up to the lead-off position, put Frisch second in the batting order and placed Pep Young third, but it worked no better than his other combinations.

McGraw felt that the Reds and the Pirates would fade away after taking a beating from the Giants during the last western trip of the champions, but they have not faded and they are still fighting.

SAME TEAM IS SELECTED

America's "Big Four" Will Defend Davis Cup Again This Year.

New York, Aug. 22—America's "big four"—Bill Tilden, Bill Johnston, Vincent Richards, and Dick Williams—will act as the defenders of the Davis cup against the Australian challengers in the cup matches starting at Forest Hills on August 31.

After long consideration, the selection committee of the United States Lawn-Tennis Association decided upon the same team that successfully defended the cup last year and again named Dick Williams as the captain.

Five runs scored in the first inning when Watson blew up, gave the Pirates a big lead and they beat the Giants 9 to 5.

The Reds came back within 3½ games of the Giants by beating the Phils, 7 to 5.

Heavy batting by Hornsby and Bottomley gave the Cardinals an 8 to 2 victory over the Braves.

Brooklyn dropped down to sixth place when the Cubs bumped Vance and Henry and won 9 to 1.

NEW SALEM WHIPS HOMER

The New Salem baseball team added another victory Sunday when they defeated Homer, 8 to 1. Gowdy was in good form and struck out 17 men, while Jones for Homer struck out five. Reeves, Ricketts, Moore, Marshall and Wilson were again on the team and it was no difficulty for them to win over Homer. Next Sunday the team will journey to Batesville to meet the Orioles, and New Salem is taking along their regular line-up with the hopes of beating the team, which nosed them out a few Sundays ago at New Salem.

The Score Board

INTENDED TO KILL HIMSELF, LOST NERVE

Brace, Weimar, Charleston, Ills., Gives Up Body Of His Wife Whom He Murdered

FOUND HER WITH ANOTHER

(By United Press)
Charleston, Ill., Aug. 22. — A story of how he drove through the darkness of the night with the dead body of his wife in the back seat of his automobile in an effort to find nerve enough to kill himself, was told the coroner's jury by Bruce Weimar, who is held on a charge of murder.

Weimar yesterday surrendered to the sheriff and admitted he murdered his wife and carried her body through the night in the back seat of his automobile.

He told the coroner's jury which held him for murder without bond, that he found his wife with another man in a Decatur hotel. He got her to accompany him to Charleston and shot her as she sat beside him. He said he had planned to kill himself immediately after shooting his wife but lost his nerve when he saw his wife's body slump to the floor of his car. He said he drove all night with the body trying to get nerve enough to kill himself. With the break of dawn, he said, he decided to give himself up and let the law take its course.

seen in the day time, as well as at night.

In addition to the eight crossings embodied in the 1919 ordinance, he also added Eleventh street, and recommended Ninth and First streets.

The councilmen seemed to favor the plan, but many people today expressed their disapproval of the system, and pointed out that the red light system would offer little protection for smaller children who cross the tracks on their way to school, or to strangers who drive upon the tracks without knowing that they are there. One machine following another, or attempting to pass a machine at the crossing, would never see the red light signal, it was pointed out.

Many other arguments against the plan was voiced today. The fact that the four watchmen will lose their positions will work a hardship on some. It has been suggested that the council could repeal the ordinance, or amend it to retain the watchmen at the most dangerous crossings, and add the signal lights at some of the other streets.

A petition signed by the committee representing the Ku Klux Klan was granted, in which they stated that a home coming and convention was to be held here Monday, September 3, and they wanted permission to use certain streets at night for a parade, and requested that Main street be cleared of machines from First to Fourth.

The city attorney was ordered to collect the assessment role on the expense incurred in the advertising and surveying of two concrete alley jobs, for which no bid was received. The two alleys are between Fifth and Sixth and Main and Perkins streets, and the property owners have failed to make the necessary payments.

The Memorial park bonds, totalling $24,000, will be sold September 18, and the printing committee was ordered to have the bonds printed and ready to be sold at that time. No remonstrances were received on the purchase of the park land and improvement, and the period for receiving remonstrances expired.

Persons dumping trash and garbage along the streets and alleys leading into the city dump will be prosecuted, and the police and street department was ordered to make investigations and ascertain the guilty parties.

Mullins and Taylor were ordered to repair the brick alley along the east side of their building. The C. I. & W. railroad was ordered to clean their sidetracks along Fourth street, and to keep them in a sanitary condition.

An error in publishing a notice for the improvement of North Sexton street with sidewalks, curbs and gutters, will cause the notice to remonstrators to be republished, and the hearing will be September 4. The notice that was printed called for bids, which was an error.

Texas Lady Suffered from Womanly Weakness, Pains and Aches; Says She Took Cardui and Got Well.

Dayton, Texas.—Mrs. E. H. Weidel, of this city, writes that she has, for a long time, known of the value of Cardui from personal experience. "I don't know where I would be had it not been for Cardui, for it made a new woman out of me," says Mrs. Weidel.

"I was haggard, pale—worn to a frazzle all the time. My health was wretched. I had womanly weakness, painful . . . pains and aches. . . . I heard of Cardui, and decided to use it. Cardui built me up. I grew well—like another woman—hence the praise I give it. Cardui is the best medicine I ever saw in my life."

Cardui, which this lady found so helpful, is a purely vegetable, medicinal tonic. For more than forty years, Cardui has been taken by thousands and thousands of women, everywhere, and praised by them for the beneficial results obtained from its use. If you are a woman, and suffer as many women do—

FREIGHT LOADINGS
BREAK THE RECORD

For Eighth Time In Ten Consecutive Weeks, New High Mark Is Set Week Of July 28

BAROMETER OF PROSPERITY

Increase Over Record Established Week Of July 21 Due To Larger Grain Loadings

Indianapolis, Ind., August 22. — Records for revenue freight loadings were broken again with a total of 1,041,044 cars during the week ended July 28, according to the announcement received here today from the American Railway Association.

As a barometer of the present national prosperity, the week was the eighth time in ten consecutive weeks that the freight loadings have exceeded the million car mark. The heaviest previous loading was in the week ended July 21, with 1,023,927 cars.

Livestock, ore and coke loadings were the only items that showed a decrease over the previous week each showing a gain over the corresponding period of last year. Freight for the week also exceeded the corresponding week of July, 1922, by 192,186 cars and the corresponding week of 1921 by 245,612 cars. It also exceeded by a wide margin,

The establishment of the new record was made possible by the increase over the week before in the total loading of grain and grain products, coal, forest products, merchandise and miscellaneous freight, including manufactured products.

Loading of grain and grain products totaled 53,169 cars, an increase of 6,885 cars over the week before. Coal loading totaled 194,546 cars, an increase of 3,753 over the preceding week and 113,251 over the same week last year when most coal miners were on strike. Loading of merchandise and miscellaneous freight totalled 585,783 cars, 1,376 cars in excess of the previous week, and 30,110 cars more than the week of last year. Loading of forest products amounted to 77,789 cars, or 1991 more cars than the preceding week and an increase of 20,182 over the same week last year. Livestock loading reached 31,849 cars, a decrease of 605 cars over the preceding week, but an increase of 5,181 over a year ago. Ore loading totalled 83,633 cars, a week before, but an increase decrease of 674 compared with the of 18,761 cars over the corresponding week last year. Coke loadings amounted to 14,274 cars, 614 cars under the week before, but an increase of 5,187 cars over last year.

AMUSEMENTS

Thrilling rescues at sea, terrific storms, said to equal in realism nature in her angriest mood, an unusually appealing love theme—these are the principal features of "Home-ward Bound," a new Paramount picture starring Thomas Meighan which will be on view at the Princess theatre for two days beginning today. Lila Lee who played opposite Mr. Meighan in "The Ne'er-Do-Well," is his leading woman in this new screen offering.

Mr. Meighan is a seaman in this delightful crisp story, while Miss Lee is the daughter of a ship owner who unaccountably detests the sailor in his employ. He is unaware that Jim Bedford, the sailor in question loves his daughter and that she returns his love. She goes to sea in a palatial yacht, the command of which had been wrested by Bedford from Stevenson, a cowardly

In European Crisis

Lord Crew, British ambassador to France, spokesman for England in relations with France.

Dr. Von Sthama, German ambassador to England, called by some in Germany, "the man of the hour."

Ankle, "The Foolish Age" and many others of similar high calibre have served to establish her as a star in the very first rank and her latest production released by R-C is bound to lift her a few more notches up the ladder.

Doris is at her rollicking best in "The Understudy." In the first place the producers have given her a role that fits her as snugly as a new glove, a story that ripples from start to finish with merriment, a plot that builds suspense at the beginning and maintains it until the final fadeout and a supporting cast that helps her admirably in the development of this most entertaining narrative.

As a stage-struck country girl who comes to the city to get a job on the stage, Doris hires out as an "understudy" to a veteran chorus girl. In fact, she serves as the wise young woman's maid and companion but always she is fired by her ambition to get ahead in the theatre. Finally her mistress unwittingly pushes her into a romance that wins her enduring happiness. The development of the story makes entertainment of the most engrossing sort and throughout the picture Miss May sparkles, like a comic gem. In the cast are Wallace McDonald, Otis Harlan, Adele Farrington, Christine Mayo and Arthur Hoyt. Wm. A. Seiter directed the picture.
